desirable architectural themes, complementing the surrounding environments and wishes of our clients.

All of these requirements obviously necessitate good design, aesthetic and functional approaches to planning and development. Our goal as architects and interior designers working as a team is to bring together great project design within a reasonable budget where the development can be successful from a profitability standpoint for the owner.

In today's competitive climate, it is essential to keep up with and to surpass the competition. This is done by knowing the competition, knowing the demands of the customers, knowing the desires of the developers and management companies, and knowing how to execute an aesthetically pleasing project with a reasonable budget.

Reputation and experience are key elements that make ADACHE GROUP ARCHITECTS, INC. the right team to bring our projects into reality.

Daniel E. Adache, in his entrepreneurial spirit, brings a broad range of value and experience not only as an award-winning architect, but also as a successful real estate developer and general contractor. Adache attributes his company's success to assembling a world-class quality team and providing exceptional service to its clients. Our job is to design exceptionally attractive spaces that are highly functional, that get the client a solid return on investment, and that fit beautifully into their surroundings.

True appreciation of architecture is to experience it first hand. True appreciation of the architects who have created it is to acknowledge their talent. While ADACHE GROUP ARCHITECTS, INC. has been regularly acknowledged for their creative talent as illustrated by their satisfied repeat clients, they have also been continuously featured in numerous publications, and recognized for their design excellence, both domestically and internationally, with dozens of design awards.

A major part of the ADACHE philosophy is not only to please the client, but as importantly, to please the client's client—whether they have come to work, play or simply relax in the finished product.

ADACHE is headquartered in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., with an office in Pensacola, Fla. and strategic alliances around the globe.
